

aMAZEment

In November 2007, Bedford Borough Council unveiled a unique public realm enhancement within the grounds of Priory Country Park, in Bedfordshire. Local artist Susannah Oliver was commissioned to create a seven-ring labyrinth within the grounds of the Park (the only park in the borough with 'green flag' status). The aim was to create a distinctive feature that would enhance play provision as well as provide visual appeal.

The commissioning process was co-ordinated by HAPPEN, and the project managed by Simon Fisher, Greenspace Officer at Bedford Borough Council.
